/ ABOUT ME

Passionate, curious, eager, may be some of the adjectives that better describe my attitude towards development.
Ever since I discovered code (or did it discover me?) I work tirelessly adding knowledge every day, feeling rewarded every time I fix a complex bug and finding difficult to call it a day.
I love to share what I know, while I'm always happy when someone shows me a better way to do things.
I am critical of my own achievements and always strive for finesse and performance.
I enjoy to work under pressure, as time challenges force me to focus.
My artistic side complements my technical skills.
